Receptions Are Held at the Hand. some Club House After Every Drag.

PETERSBURG, VA., February 3.— Recognition of the Riverside Hunt by

Recognition of the Riverside Hunt by the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association of America has rewarded the work of the officers, and placed the institution among the first-class hunts of the country. It has become the most popular and enthusiastic organization for pure sport in this section, and the Saturday afternoon drag hunt, with the finish at the Riverside Club-house, is as well established an institution as the ciub itself.

The going Saturday afternoon was very heavy, and riders had no easy task to keep up with the hounds. The run was about nine miles with finish at the club-house. Those riding were: Duncan Wright, master of the hounds, on Belle Fleur, LeRoy Roper, huntsman, on Setback; M. C. Jackson, on Black Sox; George Harrison, on Togo; Harvey, Seward, on Christine; Dr. Gill, on "Q." and Mrs. M. C. Jackson, on Mary Ann.

The greatest names known to base-ball are those of men who commenced life with nothing but a stout heart and a baseball instinct. What makes the game successful is clean and gentlemanly playing, with rowdyism cut out. One of the greatest mistakes a ball-player can possibly make is to think that he must conduct himself on the field like a regular "tough" in order to succeed in making himself aggressively efficient in the game.

The successful ballplayer is the one who plays the game in true, manly style.

Local fandom is beginning to ask with some anxiety who are to compose the 1897 Richmond team. Shaffer says the guessing ones know as much about it right now as he does, and that no diffict announcement will be made until the preliminary work is over this spring.

"We will have a winner this year; there will be no half-hearted members on the team, and there will be no room for trouble-makers, for I will not stand for men inside the ranks presumptuously trying to run the club," is the way "Shafe" puts it.

Number of Important Bowling Games Scheduled for Next Few Days.

All the talk now in the sports' line seems to converge principally on the outlook for baseball, though many are taking an increased interest in bowling In the spring, when reporting time arrives, the average manager awakens to the fact that his troubles are about to commence. The names of hundreds of players will be submitted to him, many of whom could not be secured for love or money. After a few weeks practice, the men commence dropping out one by one, until finally his choice is made, and the fight for first place is on, If the manager has made a bad selection, he soon hears "Rotten," "Bum team," "Lemons," and other comforting remarks.

When good fortune is with a manager ever, and knows no surcease from labor and worry. Numerous questions as to him; but he holds a steady head, smiles and says only that everything looks encouraging and bright. He has about completed the work of sending out his contracts to be signed by the old and the new players, and most of them have who plays the game in true, manly style.

A professional player's life is not strewn with roses and full of sunshine. On the contrary it is a position beat with many troubles. It's applause from the grandstand to-day and knocks from the biscalers to-morrow. When good fortune is with a player the public are proud to applaud hin, and he is a hero, but let him have a little bad luck and they have no use for him. But this, coupled with the uncertainties of the game, makes it what it is—America's most popular pastime.

Baseball is becoming more scientific year by year, and it is now being played in almost a mechanical fashion. In following the game day in and day out all of the isside features are presented to a player, and almost every day plays are pailed off that are the result of deep study on the part of a wise manager, and elmost every day plays are pailed off that are the result of deep study on the part of a wise manager.

Don't knock! If a player makes an error bear in mind the fact that he is a trong contraging and bright. He has about courseling and bright. He has about courseling and bright. There will be many important bowling games during the week. Both the Greater Richmond City Bowling League and the Richmond City Bowling League have made out good schedules, and all the games will be interesting. A double-header will be played to-night at the Luke bowling alleys between the Southsides and Eastends, and the games will be held between the Southers and Westends and the Northsides and Eastends. Masters Frank Kain, and Raymond Whitman, the youngest bowlers in the city, and probably the youngest in the South, will play their weekly series Friday night. The series between these youthful bowlers will be completed the Friday night following, and the final winner will be declared the gmateur champion.

In the Richmond City Bowling League the Columbias and Hanovers will play on the Williams's Alleys, and the Crystals and Olympias on the Williams's Alleys te-night.

to-night.

It will be an unusual week at the skating rink, where a large number of entries have been made. Besides a large number of entries have been made. Besides a large number of entries from local circles, there will be many to come from other cities. Among the entries from Richmond for the contests to be held during the week are Brent, Newberry, Harley, Haley, Knowles, Taylor and Pollard. J. I. Mitchell and F. Corbett will represent Portsmouth. A. J. Allard, well-known here, being for some time floor manager of the local rink, comes from Lynchburg to take part, and Charlie Lang and W. L. Priddy, with A. Fenneman and Charles Kane, will represent Baltimore and Washington, respectively. Zerom Boston comes Mr. Fred De Oro, the champion of the New England States.

Mr. De Oro has a record with the roller skates of a mile in three minutes flat. He will be pitted against John Brent during the week's contests, and the two are expected to put up one of the best races ever seen in this city.

McGuire's School for Boys holds the championship among the preparatory schools in Richmond, having won its title to this honor at the indoor track meet in the Horse Show Bullding, this city, on the night of January 26th. Four schools entered the contest for the preparatory school championship—McGuire's, 3t. Andrew's, Richmond High School and Richmond Academy, McGuire's relay te m ran against Richmond High School and won, and St. Andrew's ran against Richmond Academy, and won. The two winners then ran against each other for the championship, McGuire's winning the contest and championship, after a good, hard race.
